

ABSTRACT

A thigh-slimming garment and method thereof, wherein a preferably substantially concealed support mechanism is provided
5 within the crotch and inner-thigh region thereof, thereby enabling the wearer to present a natural, aesthetically appealing, contoured and shaped inner-thigh region, thus eliminating the need for purchase and wear of a separate shape-enhancing or minimizing undergarment, yet enabling the creation of a visible space, or 10 open region, in the inner-thigh/crotch region between the upper legs of the wearer.